Welcome to Bucks Art Weeks 2026

When this event was launched 40 years ago, the ethos was very much based on working studios: artists and makers opening up their places of work to give a behind-the-scenes insight into their craft, as well as displaying paintings, prints, jewellery, ceramics, sculpture, wood turning, glass art, etc. for sale.

Over the decades, the trend has been to combine forces and have several makers at one venue, giving visitors a wide choice of art to view in a social setting, often with the added bonus of a café!

Working studios are valuable as a reminder of the human touch behind every product, and for being far more than a shopping trip. Instead they are a sensory experience, with the smell of raw materials, the sight of work in progress and the handling of items in various stages of production. As such, visitors have the opportunity to learn about processes or try their hand at a technique, as well as purchasing one-off items at source.

Both working studios and group shows foster local community and culture whilst offering the chance to discover new towns, new artists, and new passions.

Please do give us feedback on your visitor experiences this year. Keep an eye on social media and on www.bucksartweeks.org.uk for all the latest news.

Sam Burke, Chair

How to use this directory

On the inside back cover is a map showing the location of the artists' venues over four regions of Buckinghamshire and just beyond the county boundaries. Colour-coded sections of the directory correspond to these regions.

Use the map to find artists on your doorstep or plan a trip further afield. You can browse to see which images catch your eye, or look up artists, working studios, or art categories in the index.

Check dates and times here and confirm these on our website. We hope you enjoy seeing the artists' work and remember, not all venues take credit cards should you wish to make a purchase.

The joy of working studios

About a third of the exhibitors at Bucks Art Weeks are from working studios – a set-up which allows you to meet the artist or maker in their own practical working space – a total contrast to seeing their products in a staffed gallery. You can view their inspirations, trials and experiments at various stages of production; you can see tools, equipment and raw materials; and quite often you can enjoy demonstrations or have a go yourself. This is a behind-the-scenes look into the creative world where you can meet the creators and hear their stories.

Gawcott North Bucks

Working studios are an opportunity to learn about art, as well as appreciate it. Tlws (pronounced 'Clooze') Johnson is of Welsh descent and has been a teacher for all of her working life. In her late 50s she became a mature student and studied ceramics and glass. Having been tutored by an established glass caster, she set up her own workshop in the pretty village of Gawcott, just south of Buckingham. Almost 30 years later, she continues to run beginners and advanced classes in kiln-formed glass. There is quite a lot of mathematics and science involved in casting. Fused glass is a little easier and for Bucks Art Weeks there is an opportunity to 'have a go' at making your own glass tile. You can learn about colour, textures, and the changing properties of light.

Pitstone The Vale of Aylesbury

Cathy Timbrell is a retired scientist, and these days her experimental work with jewellery is carried out at Duck Barn Studios. Aylesbury Ducks were once bred here, but following an award-winning barn conversion it is now the perfect place to see where inlaid vitreous enamels are kiln-fired and how molten, reticulated, and fused silver jewellery is created. Cathy also works with gold and precious stones, and with enamelled copper bowls. This is the perfect place to bring a family, to see demonstrations of sgraffito, enamelling and engraving, or to have a supervised play with some of the techniques. It's also an opportunity to buy locally, as much of Cathy's work is in the Bircham Gallery, Norfolk, and at venues overseas.

Great Missenden Chilterns and the Thames Valley

Working studio visits are an adventure. Fin Orrom Carr's pottery and sculpture garden is up a country lane off the road towards the Prime Minister's house at Chequers. Rignall Lodge was once the coach house for the neighbouring Arts & Crafts home, and the wild garden full of summer flowers is terraced with little paths and an old Gertrude Jekyll designed water feature. All of Fin's ceramics are hand-built from coils and slabs of clay, rather than on a potter's wheel, and are inspired by natural textures, forms, and landscapes, then finished with earthy glazes. Here at the studio you can see the artist's inspiration: dried flowers, fossils, shells, and burred wood. In the garden setting the weathered pots look as though they have grown organically from their environment, and could be as ancient as rocks or pebbles.

Chesham Chilterns and South Bucks

Chris Sims was once the lead singer in a band, then, as a graphic designer, he created album covers for the classical record company Chandos. Now he is described as 'one of the most important abstract painters in Britain today' with a technique likened to the St Ives artist Peter Lanyon. You can meet Chris in his working studio at the back of the long garden of a Victorian terraced house in Berkhamstead Road, surrounded by paintings, prints, drawings, sketchbooks, and quirky sculptures destined for galleries in London and the Cotswolds. Chris has a dynamic, energetic approach to his work, making instinctive marks in oils, charcoal and pastels, leading the viewer on an adventure. As such, working studios can provide an emotive encounter that you're unlikely to experience with retail therapy!

From the top: 'Have a go' at Tlws Johnson's fused glass workshop; inspiring natural materials at Fin Orrom Carr's pottery; tools at Duck Barn Studios for jewellery making.

Tapestry weaving is an ancient form of textile art. Woven by hand, using bundles of wool and gradually building from the bottom up, a tapestry can take many months to complete and is a mindful experience. My cues are the beauty, form, and colour of the natural world.

I make handwoven textile pieces using a traditional floor-standing loom. I only use two heddles of the loom, so the weave patterns are simple, but the interest comes from combining yarns of different thickness and texture, and the blending of colour. I work with a range of natural fibres.

Outdoor painting speaks to something in the human spirit. There is a thrill in capturing light and atmosphere on small panels which intentionally reveal the beauty of direct observation and the poetry of restraint. Some will inform larger studio paintings which retain this well-earned authenticity.

Woodland themed silver & gold jewellery

The Garden Studio and Printroom, The Laurels, 14 Station Road, Tring, HP23 5NG

Original prints and paintings are inspired by the paths I have travelled and the scenery I have experienced. En plein air drawings offer a starting point which are further developed until the work acquires a life of its own. Colour, form, and the play of light are important aspects of my work.

Garden Studio, Oddyfields, Cow Lane, Tring, HP23 5NS

Seascapes, landscapes and more in acrylic and mixed media. Wire wrapped sea glass jewellery. I am fascinated by light, shape and colour in nature and this is reflected in my work. I will be painting at the venue. Second house on right in Cow Lane from Station Road.

Garden Studio, Oddyfields, Cow Lane, Tring, HP23 5NS

Taking a fresh look at the landscape from wherever I travel, be it Yorkshire, Dorset, or our county. Colour represents my response to what I see. You'll find me at the second house up Cow Lane from the junction with Station Road. Look out for the bunting and double green garage.

Little Redlands, Dorian Close, Cow Lane, Tring, HP23 5NS

Woodland themed botanical jewellery cast from trees & plants in the Chilterns, recycled silver & gold with ethically sourced gemstones and heirloom metal casting. Exhibiting in garden studio set in a beautiful garden. Turn into Dorian Close off Cow Lane, Little Redlands is first house on the left.

Robin Eckardt - New Beginnings

My first art studio after university was my parents' garage. I named it 'Garage Studios'. Then for the last 25 years I've relocated to various other venues and each became my 'home from home'.

Recently, the company 'Hideaway Garden Rooms' have built a wonderful new art studio for me in my garden seen in the above image ... this new chapter makes it now, my 'home at home' aka my 'Garden Studio'.

Come visit the biggest project I've ever embarked on which has now been completed. My address is listed in this directory and although I am tucked away, I'm very easy to access and find ... 5th house in the village opposite Haddenham Train Station.

I'm so excited to produce new art in my garden environment. For more information, please contact Robin Eckardt.

St Nicholas Church, Risborough Road,
Kingsey, HP17 8LY

Abstract /impressionistic and mainly acrylic painter, in many sizes and styles. Showing here for my 10th year, with a wonderful group of other very varied artists. The homemade cakes we provide are also fought over! Much to see.

St Nicholas Church, Risborough Road,
Kingsey, HP17 8LY

Handmade and hand-decorated, I use clay to achieve vibrant, hand-painted pieces. Illustrations are inspired by regional and social heritages influenced by people, their stories, landscapes and industries in a distinctive, vibrant and expressive style.

Hand made unique jewellery

St Nicholas Church, Risborough Road, Kingsey, HP17 8LY

My work reflects my passion for colour and my search for rhythm and shape in everything I see. I contrast flat colour with texture. My paintings are not focused on realism, but reflect my view of the world around me.

St Nicholas Church, Risborough Road, Kingsey, HP17 8LY

My work combines painting and hand stitch to explore colour, texture and rhythm. Inspired by seasonal change and different forms of light, each piece begins with intuitive acrylic layers, with stitch adding structure and tactility. Original artworks and printed products are available to purchase.

St Nicholas Church, Risborough Road, Kingsey, HP17 8LY

Wide ranging in subject and inspired by both man-made and natural forms and colours, I strive to make my photographs engaging. I seek out interesting shapes, beautiful vistas, and wildlife; and from the taking to the printing and framing, seek to create a unique perspective on our world.

fit& fellows gallery, 18 Butter Market, Thame, OX9 3EP

I make bespoke handmade jewellery using traditional silversmithing techniques. I work to commission and also sell my jewellery in galleries around the country. I will be demonstrating silversmithing in the beautiful fit& fellows gallery and shop in Thame. Come and pay me a visit.

My studio is in my home - it's a small, compact and often chaotic space. I'll have work on the go, and a selection of my paintings on display throughout the house. I paint in oils and it's pretty much all about the Chilterns, especially its woods.

With crisp lines, bold contrast and a sense of rhythm of the landscape, Chris's printmaking celebrates familiar places in a fresh and contemporary way. A selection of linocut and Tetrapak intaglio prints are on display, alongside work from other local artists, at the A Little Bird Told Me Gallery.

I create both functional ceramics and illustrations from my home studio. Often depicting scenes of domestic life, capturing people, food, and furnishings through loose mark-making and bright colours, showcasing the beauty in the ordinary.

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

Laceys Yard, alongside Cox the Saddler and opposite Roots café, dates from 1649 and includes a cottage workshop. Come through the scented garden and into the shop, then through to the light, airy galleries to see the work of the artists, alongside a collection of local history photographs and books.

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

Fiona creates functional and decorative ware, using a range of techniques to enhance the surface, including sgraffito (carving) on slip covered vessels, as well as glazing and raku. Her more recent interest in sacred geometry has led her to develop a range of porcelain tiles and vessels.

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

Mixed media artist who enjoys the experimental approach to her work. Working in mixed media, life drawing and printmaking, often abstractly, but also with an element of recognition.

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

I work in stoneware to hand build my pots, creating small, medium and large pieces, both functional and sculptural. My work is frost resistant, suitable for use indoors and outside. Each piece is unique. I take my inspiration from traditional forms as well as the lines and textures of nature.

271 Varvara White
Metal sculpture & jewellery

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

Contemporary semi-abstract land and seascape painter. My work is mixed media, generally on canvas and framed appropriately.

The Good Earth Galley, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

My paintings capture the emotional experience of a moment rather than a literal scene. Using vibrant colour, rich texture, pattern, and subtle shifts in perception, I create mood and atmosphere, inviting the viewer to pause, reflect, and connect with the beauty of nature.

The Good Earth Gallery, 2 Laceys Yard,
High Street, Chesham, HP5 1BG

Varvara makes copper wall and free-standing sculptures. Copper sheet is shaped, heated, formed and brazed. Silver leaf and patina are sometimes applied. Masks and animal forms are favoured subjects. Jewellery is simple and mostly silver in Varvara's characteristic textured style.

286 Jenny Zolkwer
Wheel thrown ceramics, mugs & more

The Garage, 15 Ruckles Way, Amersham, HP7 0BZ

Jenny is an intuitive potter, letting her hands shape the curves as she works on the wheel in her studio in Turville. The shapes are simple, balanced, and made to be held, used and enjoyed. The glazes tend to the earthy. It's always about the curves, be they of mugs, bowls, jugs, platters, or more.

Claire Steele

What does art do?

Claire Steele proposes a series of thoughtful and provocative answers to this question, via an assemblage of memoir fragments about her late father, a painter, written as if she were still in conversation with him. The book offers searching reflections on grief, craft, the power of art and the intricate materiality of the world.
